

Brief Curriculum vitae et studiorum

Dr. Rita Nocerino

Name: Rita Nocerino

Place of birth: Naples

Citizenship: Italian

e-mail: rita.nocerino@unina.it

Graduated in 2008 cum laude. From 2008 to today she was devoted to the care and the study of pediatric gastroenterology, allergology and nutrition at the Department of Pediatrics (now Department of Translational Medical Sciences), University Federico II of Naples as project manager, clinical monitor and study coordinator.

From 2018 to today she has received university teaching positions at University of Naples Federico II.

In over 10 years of clinical experience she has acquired a great experience for all major diagnostic and therapeutic procedures for the care of pediatric patients in the field of pediatric nutrition and food induced diseases. One of the main field of interest is also the study of optimal nutritional approaches for neonates and patients with chronic disorders of the gastrointestinal tract. She works in collaboration with many public Institutions and private Companies involved in the research of best dietetic solution for children affected by food allergy.

She constantly attends national and international conferences in the pediatric field. She is author of publications among scientific paper on international journals, book chapters, reviews and abstracts.

She has obtained several scientific prizes for the research activity on paediatric nutrition and allergology. Member of many national and international scientific societies and reviewer of the main scientific journals in the field of paediatrics, immunology/allergology.